

Rally Against the Lab!

(It's stupidly sited beside St Pancras Station)

As cuts bite deeper, the truth gets clearer:
SUPERLAB = super WASTE + high RISK

United Kingdom Centre for Medical Research and Innovation will cost £660 million- £220 million from government and take 6 years before research begins.

THE MONEY SHOULD BE SPENT ON SCIENCE AND EDUCATION NOW!

Why move research from the world famous Medical Research Centre on 46 acres at Mill Hill (with a level 4 virus capacity) to the 3.6 acres at St Pancras where it can do less work (Level 3 plus) with no room for expansion??? It will risk terrorist attacks, disruption from demonstrations, and a possible spillage that could infect the local population and spread to Europe.

Meet at 6pm Wednesday May 18

in Purchase Street Open Space

(corner of Midland Road and Brill Place NW1).

Help us spread awareness of this reckless, wasteful project
